Declaration of Councillors' Interests in Items Appearing on the Agenda

GMCA Resources Committee : 24 September 2021

Agenda Item Number	Type of Interest - PERSONAL AND NON PREJUDICIAL Reason for declaration of interest	NON PREJUDICIAL Reason for declaration of interest Type of Interest – PREJUDICIAL Reason for declaration of interest	Type of Interest – DISCLOSABLE PECUNIARY INTEREST Reason for declaration of interest

Please see overleaf for a quick guide to declaring interests at GMCA meetings.

Quick Guide to Declaring Interests at GMCA Meetings

Please Note: should you have a personal interest that is prejudicial in an item on the agenda, you should leave the meeting for the duration of the discussion and the voting thereon.

This is a summary of the rules around declaring interests at meetings. It does not replace the Member's Code of Conduct, the full description can be found in the GMCA's constitution Part 7A.

Your personal interests must be registered on the GMCA's Annual Register within 28 days of your appointment onto a GMCA committee and any changes to these interests must notified within 28 days. Personal interests that should be on the register include:

1. Bodies to which you have been appointed by the GMCA
2. Your membership of bodies exercising functions of a public nature, including charities, societies, political parties or trade unions.

You are also legally bound to disclose the following information called Disclosable Personal Interests which includes:

1. You, and your partner's business interests (eg employment, trade, profession, contracts, or any company with which you are associated).
2. You and your partner's wider financial interests (eg trust funds, investments, and assets including land and property).
3. Any sponsorship you receive.

Failure to disclose this information is a criminal offence

Step One: Establish whether you have an interest in the business of the agenda

1. If the answer to that question is 'No' then that is the end of the matter.
2. If the answer is 'Yes' or 'Very Likely' then you must go on to consider if that personal interest can be construed as being a prejudicial interest.

Step Two: Determining if your interest is prejudicial

A personal interest becomes a prejudicial interest:

1. where the wellbeing, or financial position of you, your partner, members of your family, or people with whom you have a close association (people who are more than just an acquaintance) are likely to be affected by the business of the meeting more than it would affect most people in the area.
2. the interest is one which a member of the public with knowledge of the relevant facts would reasonably regard as so significant that it is likely to prejudice your judgement of the public interest.

For a non-prejudicial interest, you must:

1. Notify the governance officer for the meeting as soon as you realise you have an interest.
2. Inform the meeting that you have a personal interest and the nature of the interest.
3. Fill in the declarations of interest form.

To note:

1. You may remain in the room and speak and vote on the matter
2. If your interest relates to a body to which the GMCA has appointed you to, you only have to inform the meeting of that interest if you speak on the matter.

For prejudicial interests, you must:

1. Notify the governance officer for the meeting as soon as you realise you have a prejudicial interest (before or during the meeting).
2. Inform the meeting that you have a prejudicial interest and the nature of the interest.
3. Fill in the declarations of interest form.
4. Leave the meeting while that item of business is discussed.
5. Make sure the interest is recorded on your annual register of interests form if it relates to you or your partner's business or financial affairs. If it is not on the Register update it within 28 days of the interest becoming apparent.

You must not:

Participate in any discussion of the business at the meeting, or if you become aware of your disclosable pecuniary interest during the meeting participate further in any discussion of the business, participate in any vote or further vote taken on the matter at the meeting.

RESOURCES COMMITTEE

Date: 24th September 2021

Subject: Head of Commercial Services

Report of: Steve Wilson, Treasurer GMCA

PURPOSE OF REPORT

The GMCA commercial function brings together existing business units and new functions under one corporate entity, covering GMCA, GMFRS, GMPCC and GMWDA. The function also includes the AGMA procurement hub which has transferred from Trafford Council. As part of the work to establish a single GMCA/AGMA commercial function and following concerns over procurement capacity and gaps in the capacity and capability of existing resources to support end to end commercial processes including contract management the GMCA Treasurer commissioned a high-level Service Review.

The widening responsibilities of the GMCA has meant a significant change in demand on the Procurement service, together with an increase in the types of procurement and demand around contract management support and oversight.

The GMCA Commercial function has been restructured and this includes the establishment of a Head of Commercial Services with responsibility for the areas described above. This is a new role, combining the leadership of two previous functions, namely the GMCA and AGMA Hub teams. This report sets out the role profile and seeks approval for proposed remuneration for the role

RECOMMENDATIONS

Committee is asked to:

- Consider and approve the salary of the Head of Commercial Services in the range £60,000 - £65,000

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS

This can be funded from existing budgets held by GMCA.

BACKGROUND PAPERS:

- None

1. BACKGROUND

- 1.1. In June 2020, the Service Review for the function of Commercial Services within GMCA was approved. The widening responsibilities of GMCA has meant a significant change in demand on the Procurement service, together with an increase in the types of procurement and demand around contract management support and oversight.
- 1.2. The service review includes the establishment of a Head of Commercial Services with responsibility for the areas described above. This is a new role, combining the leadership of two previous functions, namely the GMCA and AGMA Hub teams. This report seeks approval to set the salary of the Head of Commercial Services in the range £60,000 - £65,000. Further details relevant to the establishment of this roles is detailed below.

2. COMMERCIAL SERVICES TEAM

- 2.1. The Service Review confirmed retaining an in-house team, developing a suitably resourced procurement team to meet requirements of GMCA and GMFRS, supplementing one-off procurement capacity by use of other procurement services where appropriate.
- 2.2. The agreed review created a Commercial Team, combining the AGMA Procurement Hub and the GMCA team, maintaining the collaborative procurement as a separate workstream within the overall structure to undertake external focussed collaborative activities, with a shared leadership role.
- 2.3. The review also confirmed the appointment a Head of Commercial Services covering GMCA and the AGMA Procurement Hub, using the vacant post transferred as part of the AGMA Hub TUPE.
- 2.4. A benchmarking exercise has been carried out on a sample of comparative roles where information is publicly available. This indicated an average of £71,000 across the North West, with several comparable roles in the GM area at £65,000. The previous lead role in the AGMA hub was also £65,000.
- 2.5. The post has been subject to job evaluation through the LGA Senior Salaries Scheme to confirm the proposed salaries. The salary benchmarking against this provides a range of £65k to £71k and it is therefore proposed to set the salary at the range indicated above.
- 2.6. Whilst Committee approval is only required to establish roles above £55k, the entire structure of the Commercial Team is being presented to Committee for completeness (Appendix 1). The Commercial Team reports into the GMCA Treasurer.
- 2.7. The restructure work in the commercial team sits alongside the now completed restructure of the finance function. The combined impact of the structure work is contained within current budgets offering a small net saving against the budget.

3. HEAD OF COMMERCIAL SERVICES

3.1. It is proposed that this role is established with a salary in the range £60,000 - £65,000, dependent on knowledge and experience. The key responsibilities of this role will include:

- Lead the organisation's commercial function, providing good commercial advice identifying commercial opportunities that deliver best value through the most efficient and compliant process
- Ensure procurement activity, strategies and plans reflect the procurement priorities of GMCA. Priorities identified include corporate social responsibility, engaging the third sector, the use of local suppliers, ethical procurement, equality and diversity, encouraging innovation, developing markets and sustainable procurement
- Lead on procurement and contract management arrangements, ensuring compliant, effective and efficient procurement processes are in place and widely used.
- Lead on the development and delivery of a comprehensive Procurement Strategy for GMCA.
- Lead on the negotiation and management of strategic contracts, both capital and revenue and support the contract management arrangements for critical areas of spend, ensuring delivery of high-quality outcomes for internal stakeholders.
- Continually look for improvement, whilst ensuring compliance with legislation, policies, procedures and service levels.

4. RECOMMENDATION:

4.1. Committee is asked to:

- Consider and approve the salary of Head of Commercial in the range £60,000 - £65,000

Report of: Eamonn Boylan, Chief Executive Office, GMCA & TfGM

PURPOSE OF REPORT:

To inform the Resources Committee about the legislative reporting arrangements in relation to Gender Pay Gap and seek approval and authority to publish the report on the GMCA internet site and update the Government Gender Pay Gap website.

For the first time we are also voluntarily sharing our GMCA wide Ethnicity Pay Gap. This is not a legislative requirement at this stage. We hope by publishing the ethnicity pay gap annually it will drive progress in diversifying our staff groups ethnicity representation and be used as a reporting tool to assist with embedding a diverse and inclusive culture within the GMCA.

The report comprises two sections:

Section 1 – deals with Gender Pay Gap
Section 2 – deals with Ethnicity Pay Gap

RECOMMENDATIONS:

The GMCA is requested to:

1. That the GMCA Resources Committee consider the report and approve the Gender Pay Gap report for publication on GMCA website and the Government Gender Pay Gap website, in line with the legislative requirement for employers with more than 250 employees.
2. To note that the GMCA is legally required to publish their Gender Pay Gap on an annual basis based on snapshot data at 31 March 2020.

1. SECTION 1 – GENDER PAY GAP

1.1 INTRODUCTION/BACKGROUND

The Gender Pay Gap is the difference in average pay between the men and women in our workforce, irrespective of their role or seniority.

The Gender Pay Gap is not the same as equal pay, which deals with paying men and women equally for performing the same (or similar) work. Equal pay is a requirement in law since 1970.

1.2 RELATED LEGISLATION / REGULATIONS

The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties and Public Authorities) Regulations 2017 apply to specified English authorities, specified cross-border authorities and specified non-devolved authorities across England, Scotland and Wales. The public-sector requirements were introduced as part of the existing public-sector equality duty, rather than as a standalone requirement. The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties and Public Authorities) Regulations 2017 came into force on 31 March 2017. The Equality Act 2010 (Gender Pay Gap Information) Regulations 2017 applies to all private and voluntary sector employers with 250 or more employees.

The regulations introduced in 2017 require public, private and voluntary sector organisations, with 250 or more employees on a specified ‘snapshot date’ relevant to their sector, to report annually on their gender pay gap, using six different measures (see requirements below).

1.3 REQUIREMENTS

Gender pay gap calculations are based on employer payroll data drawn from a specific date each year. This specific date is called the ‘snapshot date’.

We have a duty to publish annually the following information relating to pay:

- Requirement 1: The difference between the mean hourly rate of pay of relevant male and female employees.
- Requirement 2: The difference between the median hourly rate of pay of relevant male and female employees.
- Requirement 3: The difference between the mean bonus pay paid to relevant male and female employees - Not applicable as GMCA does not pay any bonuses.
- Requirement 4: The difference between the median bonus pay paid to relevant male and female employees - Not applicable as GMCA does not pay any bonuses.
- Requirement 5: The proportions of relevant male and female employees who were paid bonus pay - Not applicable as GMCA does not pay bonuses.
- Requirement 6: The proportions of relevant male and female employees in the lower, lower middle, upper middle and upper quartile pay bands.

Mean is the average hourly rate of pay, calculated by adding the hourly pay rate for employees then dividing by the number of employees.

Median is the middle hourly pay rate when you arrange your pay rates in order from lowest to highest.

The calculations are based on a ‘snapshot date’ of 31 March 2020 for public sector organisations. We have previously published the 31 March 2019, 31 March 2018 and 31 March 2017 Gender Pay Gap figures.

1.4 COMPARATIVE DATA

Snapshot date:	31/03/2017 ¹	31/12/2017 ²	31/03/2018	31/03/2019	31/03/2020

A negative gender pay gap means that, on average, women's gross hourly earnings are higher than those of men.

GMFRS¹ gender pay gap figures, as of March 2017. This data reflects the Gender Pay Gap status before integration took place into the GMCA.

GMFRS² gender pay gap figures, as of December 2017. This data reflects the Gender Pay Gap status after GMFRS integration took place into the GMCA.

From 1 April 2017, GMCA adopted more powers, devolved from central government. With effect from 4th May 2017, a newly elected Mayor for Greater Manchester (GM) was appointed to implement those powers and make more decisions locally to improve the lives of GM residents. As part of this transition, GMFRS integrated with GMCA on 8th May 2017.

The data above provides an overall positive picture of the Gender Pay Gap improvement in the GMCA. The year on year increases in Quartiles 2 to 4 and a decrease in Quartile 1 from 2017 are very positive and an indicator that the overall recruitment strategy is working in terms of Gender Pay Gap.

Currently, it is difficult to do a comparison of Gender Pay Gap figures to other organisations at the snapshot date of 31 March 2020 due to low publication rates.

1.5 GENDER PAY GAP – KEY FINDINGS

GMCA Gender Pay Gap is based on hourly rates of pay as at 31 March 2020. Female staff hourly earnings were on average 7.4% (mean) higher than male staff and the median 7.1% in favour of female staff.

The Gender Pay Gap gives a snapshot of the gender pay balance within our organisation. It measures the differences between the relevant earnings of all male and female employees, irrespective of their role or seniority

The biggest driver in our Gender Pay Gap is the structure of our workforce.

- Overall, results for March 2020 tell us that the GMCA has decreased gender inequality within the workplace, as our Gender Pay Gap mean is below the national average by around 22.0 percentage points, and the median by 22.6 percentage points.
- The gender distribution over our pay groups indicates that 24% of the GMCA relevant paid workforce in March 2020 consists of female staff.
- Our workforce reflects a greater proportion of male staff in roles affected by occupational segregation. This is evident from the proportion distribution of men in the “lower middle” and “upper middle” quartiles. We also have a significant number of male staff within senior higher-paid roles.
- 63.4% of all male staff are Firefighters and Crew Managers, earning a similar hourly rate, lower than the average, which reduces the overall hourly rate for male staff. In comparison 14.8% of female employees are in similar roles therefore, not having the same influence on the averages.

1.6 OCCUPATIONAL GROUPS

- The mean and median are in favour of male staff for both Uniformed and Support staff.
- The main contribution to our Gender Pay Gap is the predominance of male staff across all uniformed ranks with less female staff in the senior uniformed roles.
- Results over the period 2019 to 2020 show there has been a slight improvement in the Gender Pay Gap for both uniformed and support staff in 2020, where the percentage point has improved by 1.9% and 3.0% respectively from the previous year.
- The improvement is due to an increased intake of female Trainee Firefighters and female support staff in higher grades, which has had a positive outcome on both mean and median for all occupational groups. Over time it is hoped that with promotion of these new female recruits into more senior roles will rebalance the lack of females in the senior uniformed roles.

1.7 QUARTILE PAY BANDS

- The pay quartile analysis shows that there has been a significant improvement of female representation within the upper quartiles. 37.5% of female staff employed are now within the upper quartile.
- Overall, 39.2% of female staff employed are in the lower quartile compare to only 20.5% of men employed. This is an improvement on previous years.
- The pay quartile distribution data tells us that most uniformed colleagues are in the “lower middle” and “upper middle” quartiles when staff are arranged in order of hourly pay rate.
- Above that, the number of female staff employed is consistently lower than male staff across all four quartiles, the proportion of female staff ranging between 6%, 16% and 36% in the top 3 quartiles.

2. SECTION – 2 ETHNICITY PAY GAP

Currently there is no obligation or legal guidance for employers to provide their Ethnicity Pay Gap data. The GMCA have decided to voluntarily provide a picture of their Majority and Minority Ethnicity Pay Gap in the interest of transparency. The government published a consultation into whether employers should be required to report on pay gaps by ethnicity in October 2018. The consultation sought views on:

- what ethnicity pay information should be reported by employers to allow for meaningful action
- who should be expected to report
- next steps.

Following this consultation, there is still no indication of when ethnicity pay reporting will be introduced, and whilst the potential complexity of reporting by ethnicity means that this is likely to be some way off, a small but growing number of organisations are already reporting this information.

Releasing our Ethnicity Pay Gap alongside the Gender Pay Gap, prior to this becoming a legislative requirement, the GMCA will be able to identify any anomalies early and commence the process of addressing these issues. Prominent organisations who have signed a commitment to ethnic pay gap reporting in a bid to encourage others to do so include Bank of England, Citigroup, Deloitte, Ernst and Young, KPMG, HSBC, Lloyds of London, Santander, Sodexo, amongst others.

The table below depicts a few Public Sector Organisations who have published their March 2020 Ethnicity Pay Gap.

Public Sector Organisations Ethnicity Pay Gap for the snapshot date 31 March 2020	% Difference in hourly rate (Mean)		% Difference in hourly rate (Median)
GMCA	6.3	lower	0.5	lower
Office of National Statistics (2019 Data)	2.3	lower	1.9	lower
Reading Borough Council	6.9	lower	0.3	lower
Westminster City Council	14.9	lower	17.2	lower
Oxford City Council	10.3	lower	9.4	lower
Enfield Council	9.5	lower	3.0	lower
London Councils	2.9	lower	-5.3	higher
Nottingham City Council	7.9	lower	8.6	lower
Brighton & Hove City Council	7.0	lower	3.1	lower
BBC	6.6	lower	7.1	lower

GMCA Ethnicity Pay Gap is based on hourly rates of pay as at 31 March 2020 the minority ethnic staff hourly earnings were on average 6.3% (mean) lower than the majority ethnic staff and the median 0.5% in favour of majority ethnic staff.

The Ethnicity Pay Gap has been calculated using the same legal requirements and principles as the Gender Pay Gap. This is to ensure consistency for both Gender and Ethnicity Pay Gap calculation methods for the GMCA.

An Ethnicity Pay Gap (mean or median) is the difference between the relevant hourly rate of pay of employees who are part of the ethnic majority and that of the employees who are part of the ethnic minority. The figure is expressed as a percentage of pay of the employees who are part of the ethnic majority.

There are a few points to note in relation to Ethnicity Pay Gap:

- There is also no legal requirement for employees to disclose their ethnicity. Therefore, the numbers only represent those who have disclosed, and this could potentially distort the average pay rates and ultimately the pay gap for either minority and / or majority groups.
- We believe including Not-Disclosed ethnicity employees on their own or including them within the majority does not give an accurate representation of the GMCA Ethnicity Pay Gap.
- It is important to understand that the calculation or outcome of the Ethnicity Pay Gap could change once legislative requirements have been introduced by the Government.
- The mean hourly rate for uniformed ethnic minority groups reduced in 2020 due to an intake of trainee firefighters and retirement of uniformed staff in more senior roles.
- We have a lower representation of employees from ethnic minority groups in senior, higher paid roles
- Fewer employees from the lower and upper quartiles have disclosed their ethnicity to GMCA. This means several lower and higher paid individuals are not reflected in the pay gap calculations, which may impact the numbers in future years.

3. NEXT STEPS

We will continue to maintain and monitor the positive trends, our diversity and attraction strategy and equality, diversity and inclusion plans which will positively impact the pay gaps in the future.

We strive to increase completion of equality data by staff so that we can measure more accurately the ethnicity pay gap in the workforce.

We continue our efforts to increase diversity of the uniformed workforce including promotion pathways to increase representation in senior uniformed ranks.

What is Gender Pay Gap reporting?

The Gender Pay Gap is the difference in the average hourly wage of all men and women across a workforce. It gives a snapshot of the gender balance within an organisation by measuring the difference between the average earnings of all male and female employees, irrespective of their role or seniority. If women do more of the less well-paid jobs within an organisation than men, the Gender Pay Gap is usually bigger.

The Gender Pay Gap is not the same as equal pay, which deals with paying men and women differently for performing the same (or similar) work. Equal pay has been against the law since 1970.

INTRODUCTION

Greater Manchester Combined Authority (GMCA) is proud to be a responsible employer that believes in the economic empowerment of employees.

We are committed to foster a working environment where people feel truly included, where our colleagues thrive and gain fulfilment, irrespective of any protected characteristics. This is not only the honourable thing to do but it is vital to the successful growth we wish to enable within our flourishing Greater Manchester communities and make GMCA a great place to work.

Each year, we publish our Gender Pay Gap (GPG) figures to comply with the statutory reporting requirements of the UK government. The report details our Gender Pay Gaps within GMCA overall as well as our Uniformed and Support staff groups.

For the first time we are also voluntarily sharing our GMCA wide ethnicity pay gap. We hope by publishing the ethnicity pay gap annually it will drive progress in diversifying our staff groups ethnicity representation and be used as a reporting tool to assist with embedding a diverse and inclusive culture within the GMCA.

In this document we compare our GPG results year on year between March 2019 – present, timelining the changes and improvements. The comparison of March 2020 GPG results alongside the March 2019 results conveys the changes and improvements GMCA are making as an organisation to decrease the gender pay gap and increase gender equality amongst our Uniformed and Support staff alike. GMCA's figures compare favourably with the published Gender Pay Gap figures for companies that have reported in 2020.

Gender Pay Gap (GPG) data

GMCA¹ Gender Pay Gap is based on hourly rates of pay as at 31 March 2020. Female staff hourly earnings were on average 7.4% (mean) higher than male staff and 7.1% (median) in favour of female staff.

The GPG gives a snapshot of the gender pay balance within our organisation. It measures the differences between the relevant earnings of all male and female employees, irrespective of their role or seniority.

The GMCA's GPG is below (↓) the national average² in October 2020

The biggest driver in our GPG is the structure of our workforce.

- Overall, results for March 2020 tell us that the GMCA has decreased gender inequality within the workplace, as our GPG mean is below the national average by 22.0 percentage points, and the median by 22.6 percentage points.
- The gender distribution over our pay groups indicates that 24% of the GMCA relevant paid workforce in Mar 20 consists of female staff.
- Our workforce reflects a greater proportion of male staff in roles affected by occupational segregation. This is evident from the proportion distribution of men in the "lower middle" and "upper middle" quartiles. We also have a significant number of male staff within senior higher-paid roles.
- Due to the nature of the Uniformed roles, there is a large proportion of male staff earning the same hourly rate which reduces the overall hourly rate for male staff

Sharing Ethnicity Pay Gap data for greater transparency

Key influencers that affect our Gender Pay Gap

We closely measure the overall diversity makeup of our organisation to ensure we are reporting and holding ourselves accountable to increase representation over time. The figures tell us that we have made progress in this but recognise that there is still some way to go before we can truly state that our workforce reflects the diversity and richness of the GM community. Using December 2017 as a benchmark overall, we have improved our Gender Pay Gap year on year. The implementation and delivery against our Firefighter Attraction Strategy and EDI Strategy are supporting this positive change, where representation in the gender and ethnicity of our workforce is continuing to increase. We look at pay gaps as one indicator of how we are doing against our objective of building a workforce that is representative of the GM communities that we serve.

We believe our commitment to improving opportunities for progression, and development across the GMCA for all employees of all genders and backgrounds, serve as an opportunity to lead by example, showing we are taking the problem of gender pay inequality seriously. Our EDI strategy and leadership, culture and people development strategic plan underpin this work. Offering and encouraging leadership development to all groups that are underrepresented within GMCA, through our Equality, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) Active Groups; EDI Strategic Group, Stonewall Working Group, EDI Working Group, EDI Single Point of Contact's (EDI SPOC's), Equality Impact Assessment Working Group, Network Chairs and Senior Sponsors Group, Rainbow Network, GM Women's Success and Support Network, Black and Racially Diverse Network and Dis-ability Network. Our ambition remains, to develop a reputation for being a fair and progressive employer for everyone, attracting a wider pool of diverse Talent for all of our vacancies. With the benefit of enhancing our productivity, innovation and creativity that can only come from having a diverse workforce that feels included, valued and engaged in a culture committed to tackling inequality.

The Equality, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) Strategic Group purpose; Are responsible for delivering the EDI Strategy and Action Plan which is embedded within directorates and teams across the organisation. The group acts as a scrutiny panel to support us in improving diversity, inclusion and equality performance and outcomes.

Each directorate across the organisation is represented at the EDI Strategic Group by their designated lead on equality and diversity, who acts as a champion within their team to ensure local management teams take action plans and priorities forward. Quarterly Reports are presented to our Improvement Board for scrutiny and approval of recommendations from all EDI active groups.

We are continuously supporting our staff through our inclusive Policies and Guidance documents e.g. Ramadan and fasting guidance, EDI events and Campaigns e.g.: Mental Health awareness, International Day against Homophobia, Bi phobia and Trans Phobia (IDAHOBiT) Flexible working, Career breaks, E-Learning packages including; Supporting Trans and Non-Binary staff at work, Dyslexia Awareness and Unconscious Race Bias and Learning at work weeks addressing EDI and a range of workshops to support the welfare of all staff in the workplace. Reinforcing our New Fire Plan 2021-2025 message which places a focus on how we will continue to build and maintain a diverse and high-performing workforce. It is vital the service reflects the people it serves and understands the communities that make up our city-region. "We will create an inclusive culture where people bring their wholeself to work".

Next steps

- We will continue to maintain and monitor the positive trends, our diversity and attraction strategy and equality, diversity and inclusion plans which will positively impact the pay gaps in the future.
- We strive to increase completion of equality data by staff so that we can measure more accurately the ethnicity pay gap in the workforce.
- We continue our efforts to increase diversity of the uniformed workforce including promotion pathways to increase representation in senior ranks

Gender Pay Gap*	A Gender Pay Gap (mean or median) is the difference between the relevant hourly rate of pay of male and female employees. The figure is expressed as a percentage of male pay.
Mean Gender Pay Gap in hourly pay	The difference between the mean hourly rate of pay of male full-pay relevant employees and that of female full-pay relevant employees.
Median Gender Pay Gap in hourly pay	The difference between the median hourly rate of pay of male full-pay relevant employees and that of female full-pay relevant employee
Proportion of males and females in each pay quartile *	The proportions of male and female full-pay employees in the lower; lower middle; upper middle and upper quartile pay bands The bands are established by listing all employees from the lowest hourly pay rate to the highest and dividing the entire workforce into four equal parts. Once the quartiles are established, the proportion of male and female employees in each is calculated.
A full pay relevant employee	An employee who was employed on 31 March 2020 (snapshot date), who was not, during the relevant pay period being paid at a reduced rate or nil because of being on leave or received back pay increasing their rate.
Ethnicity pay gap	An Ethnicity Pay Gap (mean or median) is the difference between the relevant hourly rate of pay of employees who are part of the ethnic majority and that of the employees who are part of the ethnic minority. The figure is expressed as a percentage of pay of the employees who are part of the ethnic majority. The Ethnicity Pay Gap has been calculated using the same legal requirements and principals as the Gender Pay Gap. Where a figure is negative, this means the pay gap is in favour of the ethnic minority group.
Protected characteristics	The Equality Act 2010 sets out that the nine characteristics that are protected are: Age; Disability; Gender reassignment; Marriage or civil partnership; Pregnancy and maternity; Race; Religion or belief; Sex and Sexual orientation. Furthermore, as a progressive organisation, we also include Trans, Non-Binary and Gender as part of our protected groups
Minority and Majority Groups	As far as possible, the GMCA seeks to adhere to the Office for National Statistics' harmonised output categories for ethnic groups. In this classification, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Minority Groups comprises all Mixed, Asian, Black, and Other (non-white) ethnicities. • Majority ethnic groups comprise White British; White Irish, Gypsy, or Irish Traveller; and Other White.

*This data is required as part of the UK Gender Pay Gap regulation

Note: For reporting purposes, colleagues who have taken unpaid, or reduced pay leave during the period April 2019 to March 2020, are excluded from the calculation of the Gender Pay Gap and the pay quartiles. Such leave might include career breaks (sabbaticals); parental leave; sick leave; or unpaid annual leave.

Our calculations have followed the legislative requirements of the Equality Act (Specific Duties and Public Authorities) Regulations 2017. The data reported is accurate as of 31 March 2020

1.0 BACKGROUND

1.1 Data protection law specifically requires organisations to put in place effective data protection policies, to enable them to take the practical steps to comply with their legal obligations. The Data Protection Act came into force in the UK in 2018. It outlines that employees can face prosecution for data protection breaches. As with previous legislation, the new law contains provisions making certain disclosure of personal data a criminal offence.

1.2 The following set of GMCA organizational policies are intended to provide clarity and consistency for employees, by communicating what people need to do and why, to help them avoid the potentially serious, criminal implications for employees that can arise from failure to comply with data protection legislation. Examples from the Data Protection Act (2018) include:

Section 148: Destroying or falsifying information and documents etc. (Data Quality).

Under Section 148 (2) (a) it is an offence for a person to destroy or otherwise dispose of, conceal, block or (where relevant) falsify all or part of the information, document, equipment or material.

Section 173: Alteration etc. of personal data to prevent disclosure to data subject (Data Subject Requests).

Section 173 relates to the processing of requests for data from individuals for their personal data. Section 173 (3) makes it a criminal offence for organisations (persons listed in Section 173 (4)) to alter, deface, block, erase, destroy or conceal information with the intention of preventing disclosure.

Section 171: Re-identification of de-identified personal data (anonymization and pseudonymization)

Section 171 - a new offence - criminalizes the re-identification of personal data that has been 'de-identified' (de-identification being a process - such as redactions - to remove/conceal personal data). Section (5) states that it is an offence for a person knowingly or recklessly to process personal data that is information that has been re-identified.

1.3 In relation to the Freedom of Information Act (2000) Section 77 states a person "is guilty of an offence if he alters, defaces, blocks, erases, destroys or conceals any record held by the public authority, with the intention of preventing the disclosure by that authority of all, or any part, of the information to the communication of which the applicant would have been entitled."

1.4 The attached policies have been drafted by the GMCA Information Team in conjunction with the GMCA Information Governance (IG) Board. The Freedom of Information and Environmental Information Regulations Policy was considered and agreed with Trade Unions representatives in October 2020.

1.5 All policies follow an agreed format and style, including arrangements for document version control.

2.0 APPROPRIATE POLICY (SPECIAL CATEGORY DATA)

- 2.1 As part of the Greater Manchester Combined Authority's (GMCA) statutory and public functions, it processes special category data and criminal offence data in accordance with the requirements of Article 9 and 10 of the General Data Protection Regulation ('GDPR') and Schedule 1 of the Data Protection Act 2018 ('DPA 2018').
- 2.2 This policy applies when the GMCA is processing special category data when relying on the requirements listed in Parts 1, 2 and 3 of Schedule 1 of the Data Protection Act 2018. This policy lists the procedures, which are in place to secure compliance with the General Data Protection Regulation and data protection principles, needed when processing special category data. It applies to all GMCA staff. "Staff" for the purposes of this policy includes GMCA officers, including contractors, consultants and agency staff.
- 2.3 The Appropriate Policy (Special Category Data) is attached as appendix 1.

3.0 DATA SUBJECT RIGHTS POLICY

- 3.1 This policy provides an introduction to the rights individuals have under the data protection legislation.
- 3.2 The rights of individuals ('data subjects') in relation to the processing of their personal information are set out in the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Further provisions relating to the data rights of individuals can be found within the Data Protection Act 2018 (DPA 2018), which include law enforcement activities and other areas not covered under the GDPR.
- 3.3 The GDPR strengthens these existing rights. The changes are mostly evolutionary but also give individual's rights in other areas such as the right to data portability. Some of these rights are subject to limitations and exceptions; further details of which may be viewed below.
- 3.4 The Data Subject Rights Policy is attached as appendix 2.

4.0 DATA QUALITY POLICY

- 4.1 The Greater Manchester Combined Authority (GMCA) recognizes that reliable information is essential and the availability of complete, accurate, relevant, accessible and timely data is fundamental in supporting the GMCA to achieve its goals. The GMCA recognizes that all decisions, whether service delivery, performance management, managerial or financial need be based on information which is of the highest quality.
- 4.2 The data quality policy document underpins the GMCA's objective to record and present information of the highest quality and sets out high level principles as to how this will be achieved. It outlines who this policy applies to and the principles that staff must be aware of and adhere to. It also defines the governance arrangements, the key roles and provides protocols to ensure robust data quality is embedded throughout the GMCA assets.
- 4.3 The Data Quality Policy is attached as appendix 3.

5.0 ANONYMISATION AND PSEUDONYMISATION POLICY

- 5.1 Effective pseudonymization and/or anonymization processes depend upon robust information governance and effectively trained staff who understand the importance of data protection and confidentiality. They are part of the Data Protection by Design approach (Article 25 of GDPR) through which data protection is integrated into processing activities and business practices, from the design stage right through the lifecycle. They will often be relevant to a Data Protection Impact Assessment (DPIA) and form a key technical measure to ensure processing complies with the data protection principles (Article 35 of GDPR).
- 5.2 This policy therefore sets out how the GMCA will comply with the Data Protection legislation in order to ensure that the personal data it holds is used appropriately, processed safely and securely and that individuals are able to exercise their rights.
- 5.3 The Anonymization and Pseudonymization Policy is attached as appendix 4.

6.0 FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND ENVIRONMENTAL INFORMATION REGULATIONS POLICY

- 6.1 As an organization, one of the most frequent types of requests we receive are Freedom of Information requests. In order to support the organization in managing these requests, and in order to ensure that we are compliant to Data Protection Act 2018, General Data Protection Regulation and Freedom of Information Act 2000 we have produced new guidance which includes a policy, procedure, frequently asked questions and a guide to exemptions.

It is therefore imperative that organisational compliance with Data Protection laws for the GMCA is one that is continually striving for excellence.
- 1.6 This policy therefore sets out how the GMCA will comply with the Data Protection legislation in order to ensure that data subject rights are adhered to.
- 1.7 Any breach of this policy may result in disciplinary action and prosecution.

2. Scope

- 2.1 This policy applies to all personal information including special category/criminal conviction data used, stored or shared by or with the GMCA whether in paper or digital form and wherever it is located. It also applies to all personal information and special category information processed by the GMCA on behalf of other organisations.
- 2.2 Personal data is defined as:
- ‘any information relating to an identified or identifiable individual; an identifiable person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identification number (e.g. social security number) or one or more factors specific to his physical, physiological, mental, economic, cultural or social identity (e.g. name and first name, date of birth, biometrics data, fingerprints, DNA...)
- 2.3 This policy applies to all GMCA employees, seconded staff members, volunteers, third party contractors, temporary staff and employees of other organisations who directly or indirectly support GMCA services.

3. Policy Statement

- 3.1 Data Protection legislation governs how the GMCA will process personal and special category data including where applicable criminal conviction data collected from members of the public, current, past and prospective employees, clients and customers, law enforcement and other agencies.
- 3.2 This policy states how the GMCA will comply with Data Protection legislation to ensure that data subject rights are adhered to.

4. Roles and Responsibilities

4.1. Chief Executive

The Chief Executive is ultimately responsible for the organisation’s compliance with data protection legislation. Part 7 of the DPA 2018 stipulates the CEX’s liability with regards to offences committed under the Act.

4.2. Monitoring Officer

The Monitoring Officer is responsible for ensuring the lawfulness and fairness of GMCA decision making and must report on matters they believe are, or are likely to be, illegal or amount to maladministration. They are also responsible for matters relating to the conduct of members and officers.

The GMCA Solicitor is the Monitoring Officer.

4.3. Senior Information Risk Owner (SIRO)

The SIRO has an overall strategic responsibility for governance in relation to data protection risks and is responsible for:

- Acting as an advocate for managing information risk within the GMCA championing and fostering a culture that values, protects and uses information for the success of the organisation and benefit of its customers.
- Owning the organisation's overall information risk policy and risk assessment processes and ensuring they are implemented consistently by IAOs
- Providing written advice to the Accounting Officer on the content of their annual governance statement in regard to information risk.
- Owning the organisation's information incident management framework.

The SIRO for the GMCA is the Treasurer.

4.4. Data Protection Officer (DPO)

Under the Data Protection Legislation all public authorities must appoint a DPO. The DPO is responsible for:

- Informing and advising the GMCA and its employees of their data protection obligations.
- Monitoring compliance with the Data Protection legislation and internal data protection policies and procedures.
- Monitoring the assignment of responsibilities, awareness training, and training of staff involved in processing operations and related audits.
- Advising on whether a DPIA (data protection impact assessment) is necessary, how to conduct one and expected outcomes.
- Acting as the contact point for the supervisory authority (Information Commissioners Office) on all data protection issues, including data breach reporting.
- Serving as the contact point for data subjects e.g. employees, customers on privacy matters, including DSARs (data subject access requests). The GMCA will meet its obligations regarding the DPO role and as such will ensure that:

- the DPO is involved, closely and in a timely manner, in all data protection matters;
- the DPO reports to the highest management level of your organisation, i.e. board level at the GMCA this is the SIRO;
- the DPO operates independently and is not dismissed or penalised for performing their tasks;
- adequate resources (sufficient time, financial, infrastructure, and, where appropriate, staff) is provided to enable the DPO to meet their GDPR obligations, and to maintain their expert level of knowledge;
- The DPO has the appropriate access to personal data and processing activities;
- Appropriate access to other services within your organisation so that they can receive essential support, input or information.

The Data Protection Officer for the GMCA is the Head of Information Governance.

4.5. Information Asset Owners (IAOs)

Information Asset Owners (IAOs) are members of the Extended Leadership Team.

Their role is to understand in their business area what information is held, what is added and what is removed, how information is moved, and who has access and why.

The IAO is responsible for:

- ensuring they understand and address risks to the information.
- ensure that information is fully used within the law for the public good.
- providing a written judgement of the security and use of their asset annually to support the audit process.

4.6. Information Asset Administrators (IAA)

An IAO is accountable for the information assets under their control but may delegate day to day management responsibility to an IAA who would be responsible for:

- Managing the joiners, movers and leavers process within the team which may cut across the organisation and partner boundaries.
- Ensuring all team members keep their training up-to-date
- Managing the day to day security of the asset including access control management
- Identifying potential or actual security incidents and consulting the IAO on incident management
- Ensuring that risk assessments and other documents for projects are accurate and maintained

- Act as gatekeeper ensuring that the Information Asset Owner is aware of any changes to the information asset or its use

4.7. Information Security Officer

The Information Security Officer is responsible for developing and implementing the GMCA Information Security and associated policies and procedures to reflect local and national standards and guidance and legislative requirements. They also support the GMCA in ensuring compliance with information security requirements. This role reports to the Deputy Chief Information Officer.

4.8. Directors:

5. Introduction to data subject rights

- 5.1. The rights of individuals ('data subjects') in relation to the processing of their personal information are set out in data protection legislation.
- 5.2. The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) strengthened rights which already existed in UK law. The changes are mostly evolutionary but also give individual's rights in other areas such as the right to data portability. Some of these rights are subject to limitations and exceptions; further details of which may be viewed below.
- 5.3. This guidance provides an introduction to the rights individuals have under the data protection legislation.
- 5.4. Information and advice can be obtained from the Greater Manchester Combined Authority's Information Governance Team; OfficeOfDPO@greatermanchester-ca.gov.uk

6. Data subjects have the following rights:

- The right to be informed - The right to be provided with specified information about the processing of their personal data.
- The right of access - The right to access their personal data and certain supplementary information.

- The right to rectification - The right to have their personal data rectified, if it is inaccurate or incomplete.
- The right of erasure / right to be forgotten - The right to have, in certain circumstances, their personal data deleted or removed.
- The right to restriction - The right, in certain circumstances, to restrict the processing of their personal data.
- The right of data portability - The right, in certain circumstances, to move personal data the individual has provided to the GMCA to another organisation.
- The right to object - The right, in certain circumstances, to object to the processing of their personal data and, potentially, require the GMCA to stop processing that data.
- Rights related to automated decision making and profiling - The right to not be subject to decision-making based solely on automated processing.

6.2. Please be aware that these rights are not absolute and are subject to conditions and exemptions. In some cases the rights described above only apply if the processing activity is undertaken on specific legal grounds and/or in defined circumstances. Therefore all of these rights are unlikely to be engaged in all cases.

6.3. Individuals can also obtain full information about their rights from the Information Commissioner's Office (the ICO) via their website: <https://ico.org.uk/your-data-matters/>.

6.4. The ICO is the UK's independent regulator responsible for upholding and enforcing the rights of individuals under data protection law.

6.5. Where an individual exercises their individual rights listed above, the Greater Manchester Combined Authority ('The GMCA') will respond without undue delay and in any event within one calendar month, subject to the following two exceptions:

- Further time may be necessary, taking into account the complexity and the number of the request(s) from the individual, the period for responding may be extended by up to two further calendar months. Where such an extension is required The GMCA will notify the individual that this is the case within one calendar month of receiving their request.
- Where the request(s) from an individual are manifestly unfounded or The GMCA may refuse the request(s). In exceptional cases a reasonable fee may be requested that takes into account the administrative cost of complying with the request.

7. Summary of your Rights – what these are and how they apply

7.1. Right to be informed

The GMCA will ensure that

- where we collect personal data from the individual we will provide them with, at the time the personal data is collected, specified 'fair processing' information (known as a 'privacy notice')
- where we use personal data that has not been collected directly from the individual to communicate with them, we will provide the privacy notice, at the latest, when the first communication takes place;
- if we plan to disclose personal data that has not been collected directly from the individual to another recipient, we will provide the privacy notice, at the latest, before the data are disclosed.

7.2. Each time we seek to collect information from the individual, we must inform them why we need to process their personal information, including how we propose to use it, who we intend to share it with and the safeguards we have put in place.

7.3. Further information relating to the use of personal data may be viewed on our Privacy Policy, which can be viewed at <https://www.greatermanchester-ca.gov.uk/who-we-are/accounts-transparency-and-governance/privacy-policy-and-data-protection/>

7.4. Further to this, the individuals also have the right to be informed of any significant data breach of their personal information. The reporting must be done without undue delay unless there are relevant reasons why they should not be informed, e.g. disclosure of the breach would cause them harm.

7.5. Right of Access

Individuals are entitled to ask us for copies of the personal information that we hold about them.

The right of access also extends to

- Receiving confirmation from the GMCA whether or not we are processing their personal data; and, if it is
- To be given access to the personal data, including the right to a copy of the personal data;
- To be informed of the purposes of the processing of the personal data;
- To be informed of the categories of the personal data being processed;

- To be informed of the recipients or categories of recipient to whom the personal data have been or will be disclosed;
- To be informed of the period for which the personal data will be stored, or, if not possible, the criteria used to determine that period;
- To be informed of the existence of the right to request rectification or erasure of personal data or restriction of processing of personal data concerning the individual or to object to such processing;
- To be informed of the right to lodge a complaint with the ICO (see section 4.12);
- To be able to contact and make complaints directly to the Data Protection Officer (see section 2);
- To be provided with, where we have not collected the personal data from you, any available information as to their source;
- To be informed of the existence of automated decision-making, including profiling, and meaningful information about the logic involved, as well as the significance and the envisaged consequences of such processing for them;
- Where personal data are transferred to a third country or to an international organisation, they have the right to be informed of the appropriate safeguards under the data protection legislation relating to the transfer.

The individual should provide us with as much detail as they can about the information they want to access. This will allow us to undertake precise searches, and locate the information at the earliest opportunity. It's possible that should we need to contact the individual for further information to help us find the personal data they requested they may have to wait longer for a response.

7.6. Right to rectification

The individuals are entitled to ask us to:

- correct inaccurate information about them;
- update the information we hold if it is incomplete

If we agree that the personal information they have identified is factually inaccurate, we will correct it.

The GMCA will:

- endeavour to inform anyone with whom we may have shared the individual's personal information of any correction(s) we have made so they can rectify the information they hold about them;
- tell the individual who the recipients of their information are if they ask us to do this so the individual can check the recipient has updated the personal information they hold about them.

7.7. Right to object to processing

Individuals have the right to object to us using their personal information where it is being processed for:

- direct marketing;
- profiling whether linked to direct marketing or for other purposes
- performing our statutory functions, tasks carried out in the public interest or when exercising official authority;
- our legitimate interest or those of a third party;
- scientific/historical research/statistics where:
 - this is likely to cause substantial damage or substantial or distress; or
 - involves decision-making about an individual

If they object to us using their personal information for direct marketing (or profiling linked to direct marketing) we will cease processing for this purpose(s) as soon as possible and no longer than 28 days after the individual has made the complaint. The GMCA will only use your personal data for direct marketing if the individuals have actively chosen to opt in to this service. If we intend to collect their personal data with the intention or expectation that we will send marketing material to them, we must tell them about this in advance and give them the chance to opt in to receiving such communications. If the individual has opted in and later decides that they no longer wish to receive marketing communications, we will not continue to hold their personal data for marketing purposes.

Where the individual makes an objection in relation to the processing of their personal information for public task/legitimate interests, this must be on grounds relating to their “particular situation”. The GMCA must then cease the processing of the individual’s personal data, unless

- we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the individual; or
- the processing is for the purposes of the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

If the individual objects to the use of their personal data for scientific/historical research or statistical purposes on one or both of the above grounds, we will carefully consider their request and let them know the outcome. It may not always be possible to meet their objection if for example, the processing is carried out for the purpose of measures or decisions with respect to particular individuals where this is in accordance the law and is necessary for specified bodies to carry out approved medical research.

Where the individual objects to us processing their personal information for any of the other reasons above, we will:

- consider if we have compelling legitimate grounds for continued processing; and
- whether or not these grounds are sufficiently compelling to justify overriding the individuals privacy rights.

Where the law requires us to process their information to meet our statutory functions and public tasks, including our law enforcement functions, it is very likely that we will not be able to comply with the individuals request.

For example, they will not be able to use this right to prevent us from:

- taking measures to protect the health and safety of our staff;
- establishing, exercising or defending our legal rights;
- pursuing criminal investigations or proceedings;

The national data opt-out is a service that allows patients to opt out of their confidential patient information being used for research and planning.

The Greater Manchester Combined Authority may collect health data in order to deliver specific services. The National Data Opt-out means that members of the public can decide that they do not want their information using for anything other than providing care or a direct service to them where the law does not specifically say it can be used in this way.

There are now rules in place concerning secondary use of health and social care data. This is when personal data is used for purposes not involving direct care, for example for research and planning purposes.

All health and care organisations are now required to respect these decisions and comply with the National Data Opt Out. The Greater Manchester Combined Authority may not hold any data that the opt-out would apply to but needs to assess this on a case by case basis.

For further information; <https://digital.nhs.uk/services/national-data-opt-out>

7.8. Right to restriction of processing

This right may be exercised in circumstances where:

- we need time to consider the individuals representations where they are:
 - contesting the accuracy of the personal information we hold about them; or
 - objecting to our processing of their information (see previous right)
- it has already been determined the processing is 'unlawful' and they ask us to retain and 'restrict' its use;
- we no longer need to retain their personal information but they ask us to retain it for the establishment, exercise or defence of own legal claims.

If an individual makes a request we will let them know if we agree to restrict access to their information for one or more of the above reasons.

If we decide a restriction is appropriate, we will attempt to notify any recipients of their personal information of the restriction and let the individual know who they are if they ask us to do so.

Where processing is restricted, as well as storing the individuals personal information, we will only process it during the period of restriction:

- with their consent; or
- if it is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims;
- if it is necessary for the protection of the rights of another person; or
- if it is necessary for reasons of important public interest, including for example, communicating with the Information Commissioner.

Where a restriction is applied pending a determination of ‘accuracy’ or any ‘objection’ the individual may have submitted, we will let them know the outcome of their representations and will notify them prior to lifting the restriction.

Where the reason for the restriction is for one of the other reasons above, the erasure of the personal information will not take place until we have resolved evidential issues with the individual.

We must inform the individual if we decide to lift any restrictions placed on the processing of their data. They should receive this notification before we lift this restriction.

Where the GMCA puts a restriction on processing in place and has previously disclosed the data to others, we must inform each recipient of the restriction (unless this is impossible or would involve disproportionate effort).

7.9. Right to erasure (‘Right to be forgotten’)

Individuals have the right to request that we erase their personal information in defined circumstances.

These defined circumstances are:

- if we are storing their personal information for longer than is necessary or in breach of a legal obligation that requires its erasure;
- they decide to withdraw their consent and ask us to erase their personal information where there is no other legal ground for processing;
- we have accepted an objection made by them to our processing of their personal information (see 3.4 above) and they have further requested that we erase the personal information in question;
- we are processing or publishing their personal information without a legal basis for doing so;
- where we are legally obliged to erase the information; or
- the personal data was collected in relation to an offer of an information society service (in other words, for a fee over the internet) to a child.

We will carefully consider a request for erasure. Our response will outline whether or not we consider retention of their personal information is unwarranted.

Please note that erasure or the “right to be forgotten” is not an absolute right. There are circumstances where it may not always be possible to agree to the individual’s erasure request and we have listed a number of grounds below where it may be necessary for us to retain their information:

- in the interests of freedom of expression (special journalistic purposes)
- in order to comply with a legal obligation;
- for archiving in public interest;
- for public health functions in public interest
- for exercising legal rights or defending legal claims

If we agree to erase their personal information, we will attempt to notify any recipients and let them know who they are if the individual ask us to do so (unless this is impossible or would involve disproportionate effort). If the GMCA has previously made their personal information public, we will also attempt to inform other data controllers who are processing the data that they have requested their erasure (although this will depend on the technical availability and cost of informing them of the request).

7.10. Right to data portability

In certain circumstances, individuals have the right to request that the personal information they have supplied to an organisation be converted into a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format (e.g. a CSV file) so that it can be transmitted to another organisation. This right is primarily intended to stimulate competition in the commercial sector by making it easier for consumers to switch from one supplier to another.

As most of the processing activities undertaken by us are governed by statute or as a result of legal obligations imposed on us, this right will only be engaged where:

- The individual has provided the personal information to us themselves, we are processing it on an automated basis, and the legal basis for our processing:
 - is based on their consent; or
 - is for entering into or the performance of a contract with them.

If they make a request for the personal information they have supplied to us to be converted into a portable format where our legal basis for processing falls within one of the grounds above, we will let them know our decision. We will be unlikely to agree to requests to transfer personal data that concerns other individuals, especially when providing the information will impact on the rights of those individuals or prejudice them in some way.

If we agree to their request, we will transfer the personal data in question directly to the other data controller they have identified, provided that such a transfer is technically feasible. However, we are not required to adopt or maintain processing systems that are compatible with those of other data controllers.

7.11. Rights relating to automated decision-making

In general, decisions which effect the individual legally or have similarly significant effects are not permitted using solely automated processing (i.e. decision-making without human involvement), especially if this involves the use of 'Special Category Data'. This is because decisions made using automated electronic programmes or software do not involve human beings.

But there are some exceptions where automated decision-making is permitted. This is where the processing:

- is based on individuals explicit consent;
- is necessary for entering into or the performance of a contract with them;
- it is required or authorised by law

Where an automated decision is made about the individual based on one of the reasons above, they are entitled to be:

- informed that our processing activity involves automated decision making and to be informed about the logic involved and the likely consequences of the processing for them;
- told what measures and safeguards we have implemented to protect their privacy;

Where the GMCA undertakes automated decision making or profiling we will:

- notify individuals about the processing;
- provide a mechanism for them to request that we reconsider the decision or take a new decision that is not based solely on automated decision making;
- carry out regular checks to ensure the automated decision making / profiling is working as intended.

We will only subject individuals Special Category Data to automated decision making or profiling where they have given explicit consent or where the processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest.

Within one month of receipt of the above notification, individuals have the right to:

- contest the automated decision; and
- ask that the automated decision be reconsidered by an appropriate person with the authority/seniority to reach a fresh decision that is not based solely on automated processing.

If they contest an automated decision and ask for it to be reconsidered, we will respond within the allowed time period and let them know whether or not this fresh decision has led to the same or a different outcome.

8. How individuals can exercise these rights

8.1 How do individuals make a request about any of their rights?

Individuals can exercise any of the data subject rights mentioned in this policy by writing to the GMCA Information Governance Team at: officeofdpo@greatermanchester-ca.gov.uk.

To help them to understand how the GMCA processes their data in order to exercise any of their rights, we explain on our website how we collect and use personal information about them, including the types of information we process, what we will do with their information, who we may share it with, the 'lawful bases' (conditions) for processing it, and a list of our 'legal obligations' (powers) to use their personal data to provide services to you. They can view this page at <https://www.greatermanchester-ca.gov.uk/who-we-are/accounts-transparency-and-governance/privacy-policy-and-data-protection/>.

Further information in relation to submitting a Subject Access request via GMFRS may also be found via the following link; <https://manchesterfire.gov.uk/about-us/publication-scheme/subject-access-request/>

For all requests, we will need documentary proof that they are who they say they are. This is for security reasons to ensure we are dealing with the individual and that none of their personal information is accessed or interfered with by anyone else falsely claiming to be them.

Individuals need to ensure they provide at least two forms of identification. Preferably a copy of a passport, driving licence, utility bill, council tax bill or bank statement bearing their full name and current postal address.

On receipt of their request, we will send them a written acknowledgement. In some circumstances we may also ask for additional information if necessary.

8.2 Can someone else make a request for the individual?

Individuals can ask anyone to act on their behalf. For example a friend, relative, solicitor or employee of a consumer organisation such as a Citizens Advice Bureau.

However, before we discuss or provide the individuals personal data to anyone acting on their behalf the individual must confirm to us in writing that they have their authority to do so. This will require the individuals signed authority, coupled with two forms of identification.

8.3 What if a data subject 'lacks mental capacity'?

A person with a lasting power of attorney appointed directly by the data subject or a Deputy appointed by the Court of Protection may exercise rights on behalf of the data subject.

8.4 What about requests involving children?

It is important to remember that personal data about a child, however young, is the child's personal data and is not the personal data of their parent or guardian.

A parent or guardian does not have an automatic right to personal data about their child and can only apply on the child's behalf if the child:

- has given consent; or
- is too young to have an understanding to make the application.

Unlike Scotland, there is no set age in England which recognises when children are automatically able to exercise data protection rights.

A child aged 13 or over is able to create an on line social media account without the consent of a person with parental responsibility.

As a general rule a child must have sufficient understanding and maturity to exercise their own rights and a common sense approach will be adopted in the event a child or young person submits a request.

For children aged under 13, it will generally be expected that a request is made by a person with parental responsibility. A 'best interest' consideration will be taken into account.

Individuals have the right to request that we erase personal data that was collected in relation to an offer of an 'information society service' to a child (see section 3.4).

8.5 How do individuals evidence parental responsibility?

The following evidences may be accepted as proof of parental responsibility:

- Birth Certificate
- Court Order
- Adoption Record
- Special Guardianship Order

8.6 When can individuals expect your response?

We aim to respond to requests without undue delay and no later than one calendar month counted from the first working day after we are in receipt of an individuals request, and:

- proof of their identity, and
- any further information (where we have requested this from them) we need to process their request and/or locate and retrieve their personal information.

Where it is not possible to respond sooner and the last day before expiry of one calendar month, falls over a weekend or on a bank holiday, the latest due date will be treated as the first working day after the weekend or bank holiday.

If a request is complex, we may need to extend the length of time required to respond.

If this applies, we will let the individual know before the latest due date on which they would be expecting to hear back from us.

Data protection legislation says we can extend the length of time to respond by a maximum of a further two calendar months.

Where it is not possible to respond sooner and the last day before expiry of the second calendar month, falls over a weekend or on a bank holiday, the latest due date will be treated as the first working day after the weekend or bank holiday.

We will always try to respond as quickly as we can.

8.7 What will we send the individual when we respond?

At the time of fulfilling the request, alongside copies of any information about the individual which they have requested and we are able to disclose, we will also provide the following information:

- the reasons why it is necessary to process their personal information;
- the types of personal information we process;
- the recipients or categories of recipient to whom their personal information have been or will be disclosed, including any recipients in third countries or international organisations and if relevant, the safeguards applicable to the transfer;
- where possible, the envisaged period for which their personal information will be stored, or, if not possible, the criteria used to determine that period;
- the right to request rectification, erasure of personal information or to object or seek to restrict such processing;
- the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority (see section 4.12);
- the source(s) of any personal information we hold that has not been collected directly from them;
- whether or not decisions are made about the individual solely using automated means, including profiling, without human intervention and, if so, provide meaningful information about the logic involved, as well as the significance and the envisaged consequences of such processing for you.

8.8 Will individuals have to pay a charge?

Ordinarily we will not charge a fee for fulfilling a request from the individual.

The only exception is where the individual makes repeat requests for the same or similar information. In these cases, we reserve the right to charge a reasonable fee based on the administrative costs of supplying further copies if we consider a reasonable time period has not intervened since fulfilling a previous request.

Where the right of data portability is engaged, we must also provide information through this route free of charge (see section 3.7).

8.9 Will individuals get all of the information they are requesting?

This is likely to be the case.

But it is important to note that the right of access to their own information does not extend to information about other people who may be identified in the information that also refers to them.

GMCA may therefore redact (blank out) personal information about other individuals (called 'third parties' in the data protection laws) where we are satisfied it is reasonable in the circumstances to do so. We may withhold or redact some information the individuals request about themselves where it is possible to identify a third party.

In some cases information may be so interlinked that it is not possible to fulfil their request without breaching another person's privacy rights.

The names of professional staff (whether directly employed by us or not) involved in decision-making about the individuals care and education will often be disclosable and their identities will not be automatically redacted, unless this is warranted in a particular case.

The law recognises that there are occasions when it may be appropriate to withhold certain information and provide exemptions in specified circumstances. For example, it may be exempt if providing it to the individual would compromise the prevention or detection of crime or the prosecution of offenders. In certain cases we may also withhold some information relating to education, health and social work.

If we withhold information on the basis that it is exempt from disclosure, where it is possible to do so, we will explain the exemption(s) we are relying on and the reasons why one or more are necessary.

8.10 Can individuals choose the format in which their information is supplied?

Once we have located individuals personal data we will provide copies to them in the same format they first contacted us, unless specified otherwise.

Where individuals have submitted their request electronically or asked us to respond in a particular format, we will try to do so wherever this is reasonably practicable.

8.11 Can GMCA refuse requests?

In certain circumstances we may refuse to act on individuals request if we consider that their request is unfounded, excessive or repetitive in nature.

We will give our reasons if we refuse to comply with requests on any of these grounds.

8.12 What if individuals are not satisfied with our response or it is taking too long?

Upon receipt of individual's requests we have one calendar month to provide them with a response, or contact them to tell them how much longer we need to fulfil their request.

The Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) is the UK's independent regulator responsible for upholding and enforcing the rights of individuals under the data protection laws.

If individuals do not hear from us by the latest due date or are not satisfied with the response they have been given, they have the right to complain to the ICO.

If individuals consider that personal information we hold about them is incomplete and we do not agree with this, we may offer them the option of adding a supplementary statement explaining why they consider the information we hold is incomplete.

If we disagree with their view that the information we hold about them is factually wrong, or refuse their request for erasure, then in our response we will explain the basis for our decision and give them details about their right to complain to the ICO if they are not satisfied.

They can contact the ICO

1. Introduction

- 1.1. The Greater Manchester Combined Authority (GMCA) makes effective and wide-ranging use of information to realise the vision is to make Greater Manchester one of the best places in the world to grow up, get on and grow old. The Greater Manchester Strategy sets out a set of clear priorities for delivering this goal,
- 1.2. The GMCA recognises that reliable high quality information is essential and the availability of complete, accurate, relevant, accessible and timely data is fundamental in order to achieve its goals.
- 1.3. High quality performance information allows the GMCA to:
 - understand how we are progressing against our priorities
 - ensure that service delivery is effective
 - make the right decisions and at the right time;
 - inform our strategies and ensure we focus our resources where they are most needed;
 - empower local people and account for our performance.
- 1.4. All decisions, whether service delivery, performance management, managerial or financial need be based on information which is of the highest quality.
- 1.5. This policy document underpins the GMCA's objective to record and present information of the highest quality and sets out high level principles as to how this will be achieved. It outlines who this policy applies to and the principles that staff must be aware of and adhere to. It also defines the governance arrangements, the key roles and provides protocols to ensure robust data quality is embedded throughout the GMCA assets.

2. Scope

- 2.1. This policy applies to all data including personal and special category/criminal conviction data used, stored or shared by or with the GMCA whether in paper or digital form and wherever it is located. It also applies to all data processed by the GMCA on behalf of other organisations.
- 2.2. The policy covers all data that is entered onto computerised systems within the GMCA and all paper-based records. It covers primarily data relating to research, the delivery of services, financial management, service management, performance management, corporate governance and communications. However, it should be noted that this policy is not restricted to just performance indicators.

- 2.3. It is intended to cover the collection, recording, validation, further processing and reporting of all types of information generated and used within, or reported externally, by the GMCA.
- 2.4. This policy applies to all GMCA employees, seconded staff members, volunteers, third party contractors, temporary staff and employees of other organisations who directly or indirectly support GMCA services.

3. Policy Statement

- 3.1. As the GMCA generates a wide range of information for a whole variety of uses, this policy statement does not provide detailed guidance for specific data items or individual areas of application; these are contained within the supporting protocols and procedures.
- 3.2. It concentrates instead on general principles of completeness, accuracy, ongoing validity, timeliness, consistency of definitions and compatibility of data items and signposts where specific procedures guidelines need to exist.

4. Roles and Responsibilities

4.1. Chief Executive

5. The importance of good data quality

- 5.1. The General Data Protection Regulations 2018 principles state that personal data shall be: "accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date; every reasonable step must be taken to ensure that personal data that are inaccurate, having regard to the purposes for which they are processed, are erased or rectified without delay."

5.2. Data quality is one of the key elements of the GMCA's Information Governance Framework which sets out the agreed approach for managing information as an asset. This applies to all information held by the organisation.

5.3. Information held by GMCA must be;

- held securely and confidentially;
- obtained fairly and lawfully;
- recorded accurately and reliably;
- used effectively and ethically; and
- shared appropriately and legally

5.4. The availability of complete, accurate, relevant, accessible and timely data is important in supporting decision-making, planning, resource allocation, accountability, and the delivery of service outcomes and priorities; for example:

- Strategic / planning - High quality data and information is necessary to plan the GMCA's vision and goals, and inform the decisions that underpin everything the organisation does.
- Financial planning - data must be reliable to enable budget setting and forecasts to support service planning.
- Service planning - accurate data about the volume and type of services delivered and activities undertaken is essential to ensure appropriate allocation of resources and future service delivery.
- Performance management - accurate data enables the identification and resolution of poor performance against standards and targets.
- Service improvement - accurate data enables analysis of service provision to identify areas for improvement.
- Customer support - accurate data enables delivery of relevant and timely services.
- Efficient administration - Data provided to an appropriate standard and in such a way that the full range of stakeholders, partners and agencies can access the information they need easily and quickly.
- Audit processes - Data available for timely, reliable and accurate reporting to support internal and external audit regimes.
- Accountability, Transparency and Open Data Good quality data is essential in delivering the GMCA's transparency and open data agenda.
- Partnership Working - Information sharing is crucial to partnership working and facilitating effective public service reform.

5.5. The GMCA has identified seven key characteristics of good quality data:

1. Accuracy - Data should be sufficiently accurate for the intended use, not be misleading as to any matter of fact, and should be captured only once, although it may have multiple uses. Data should be captured at the point of activity. Data should be kept up to date and any inaccurate data, having regard to its purpose, should be erased or rectified without delay.
2. Validity - Data should be recorded and used in compliance with relevant requirements, including the correct application of any rules or definitions. This will ensure consistency between periods and with similar organisations, measuring what is intended to be measured.

3. Reliability - Data recorded should reflect stable and consistent data collection processes across collection points and over time. Progress toward performance targets should reflect real changes rather than variations in data collection approaches or methods. The mechanism for collecting and storing data should do so without contradiction or unwarranted variance.
4. Timeliness - Data should be captured as quickly as possible after the event or activity and must be available for the intended use within a reasonable time period. Data must be available quickly and frequently enough to support information needs and to influence service or management decisions.
5. Relevance - Data captured should be relevant to the purposes for which it is to be used. This will require a periodic review of requirements to reflect changing needs. There should be a level of consistency between the data content and the purpose.
6. Completeness - Data requirements should be clearly specified based on the information needs of the organisation and data collection processes matched to these requirements.
7. Accessibility – Where there are no legal or regulatory constraints, individuals using data should have the right level of access in order to perform the task effectively.

6. Risk Management

6.1. The key risks associated with data quality problems are:

- Negative consequences, financial and other, as a result of submitting inaccurate or misleading data.
- Inappropriate decision-making and inefficient/ineffective provision of GMCA/GMFRS services
- Reputational damage.
- Harm to an individual or group of individuals where GMCA has a duty to protect
- Affecting relations and data sharing arrangements with partners and agencies.
- Regulatory action and fines from the Information Commissioner for breaches of DPA or FOI legislation.

6.2. There are three main high level aspects of risk management in respect of Data Quality; the identification of compliance requirements, the identification and assessment of business risks and the application of risk mitigation measures.

1. Identification of compliance requirements

Through the use of resources and ongoing assessment the GMCA is monitored and judged on the quality of the information it produces. This is especially important in terms of national indicators, local indicators (e.g. the business service plan) and other information reported to central government departments all of which depend on good quality data for their accuracy and supporting evidence.

Statutory, regulatory and other local compliance requirements will be reviewed and incorporated into the Data Quality Standard and supporting protocols as appropriate.

2. Identification and assessment of business risk

Ever-increasing use of computerised systems provides greater opportunities to store and access many types and large volumes of data, but also increases the risk of misinformation, and therefore poor decision-making, if the data from which information is derived is not good quality. This risk applies to the GMCA's internal use of information, to information received from Government and its various agencies and to data shared with external partners. For information to have value it is essential that the data is consistent, accurate and complies with all appropriate I standards

3. Application of risk mitigation measures

In order to mitigate the risks to the business and its information a number of measures will be put in place

A framework of protocols and guidance will be produced covering the following areas:

- Data Quality Standards
- Data Quality indicators
- Governance
- Roles and Responsibilities
- Training and awareness
- Correcting Data to ensure accuracy, completeness and validity
- Manipulation and Reporting
- Monitoring and evaluation
- Data Minimisation

6.3. It is for the above reasons that the GMCA requires a Data Quality Standard that will sit together with the Data Quality policy and supporting protocols.

7. Data Quality Requirements

7.1. In order to meet the characteristics of good data quality, the GMCA will ensure that it will adopt the following:

7.2. A principle of 'collect once and use numerous times' to underpin data collection and storage.

7.3. A formal set of quality requirements based on national and local standards to be applied to all data that is used by the Council, shared externally, or provided by a third-party organization.

7.4. Accountability;

Procedures, induction and training for all staff with responsibility for data processing that should cover;

- The need for good quality data and how staff contribute to it;

- Individual responsibilities with regard to data collection, storage, analysis and reporting;
- Awareness of the relevant legal and statutory requirements
- Data is stored, used and shared in accordance with the law, including those for data protection and freedom of information.
- Responsibility to report any systematic data quality issues immediately to a manager who should ensure remedial action is taken;
- Will erase personal data if no longer needed.

Policies and Procedures;

- Local procedures must exist for all key activities such as large scale data collection, analysis and reporting and be easily available to staff
- Policies and procedures must be easily available and reviewed regularly to consider their impact on data quality and to ensure they reflect any changes within the service areas
- Heads of service must ensure policies and procedures are adopted and embedded within local processes and that compliance is achieved

Systems and Security;

- Appropriate security arrangements to ensure that data is protected from unauthorized access;
- Security arrangements in place to ensure appropriate levels of access to data by individual staff including role based access controls
- Data Quality is a core component when specifying / procuring IT Systems.
- Appropriate systems are in place for the collection, recording, analysis and reporting of data

8. Compliance with data quality principles

- 8.1. Any breaches of the principles in this policy must be reported to the information governance team immediately; OfficeOfDPO@greatermanchester-ca.gov.uk. This includes any errors / incidents or breaches which have occurred.
- 8.2. Failure to comply with the Data Quality or associated Data Protection policies may result in disciplinary action in line with HR processes.

9. Policy exemption

- 9.1. Occasionally there may be situations where exceptions to this policy are required, as full adherence may not be practical, could delay business critical initiatives or could increase costs.
- 9.2. Where the significance and purpose of the data does not justify a particular aspect (for example the cost of building an internal system validation check outweighs the benefit of the additional data accuracy) then this should be risk assessed on a case by case basis. Where there are justifiable reasons, the Data Protection Officer must be consulted immediately; OfficeOfDPO@greatermanchester-ca.gov.uk .

10. Review

- 10.1. This policy will be reviewed at least annually by the Information Governance Team to ensure that it is updated in line with any changes in legislation. It may be revised more frequently if necessary if there are any changes in legislation or national policy.

11. Training and Awareness

- 11.1. Staff will be made aware of this policy by it being hosted on the Information Governance section of the GMCA intranet.
- 11.2. The GMCA will provide relevant training both online and face to face to ensure that staff understand the legislation, the requirements of this policy and its application to their role.
- 11.3. All staff must complete mandatory data protection training every year and undertake any further training provided by the GMCA to enable them to perform their duties appropriately.

12. Compliance and Monitoring

- 12.1. The GMCA will continue to review this effectiveness of this policy to ensure that it is achieving its intended purpose
- 12.2. Completion of training will be monitored by the Information Governance Team and all employees must have regard to the Data Protection legislation and this policy when collecting, accessing, using, disclosing or destroying information.
- 12.3. Failure to follow this policy may result in disciplinary proceedings and/or legal prosecution.
- 12.4. If an employee is in any doubt about how to handle information including personal information, they should speak to their line manager or contact the Information Governance Team at OfficeofDPO@greatermanchester-ca.gov.uk.

1. Introduction

- 1.1 The Greater Manchester Combined Authority (GMCA) was established in April 2011 and since 2017 also has in place the elected Mayor of Greater Manchester who works collaboratively with other public sector organisations, voluntary and private enterprises in order to drive beneficial outcomes for the GM region and the lives of all its citizens. By encouraging economic growth, facilitating public sector reform, provision of a front-line fire and rescue service, Police and Crime Commissioner functions and delivering the Greater Manchester Strategy.
- 1.2 In order to fulfil its functions and duties as a Combined Authority the GMCA collects and processes personal data relating to individuals who use the services it provides, past, present and prospective employees, contractors, suppliers, clients, and others with whom it communicates.
- 1.3 The GMCA is responsible for being instrumental in the strategic changes required across GM to enable increased information sharing across public service delivery for public benefit. It is therefore imperative that organisational compliance with Data Protection laws for the GMCA is one that is continually striving for excellence.
- 1.4 As a public Authority the GMCA is obliged to comply with the UK General Data Protection Regulation¹ (UK GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2018². Both of these pieces of legislation require the GMCA to process only the minimum amount of personal data needed for one or more specified purposes. Also to not use information that identifies individuals unless necessary.
- 1.5 The UK GDPR provides a set of principles to follow to handle personal data appropriately and in accordance with the law. The principle that supports the practice of only using the amount of personal data necessary is called the 'Data minimisation principle' and is set out in Article 5(c) of GDPR. Data minimisation is also formally recognised in the third Caldicott³ principle in relation to processing patient data and information, and it states: "Don't use personal confidential data unless it is absolutely necessary".
- 1.6 There are various ways in which data use can be minimized, where personal data isn't necessary for the purposes or the outcomes that are trying to be achieved, and so Pseudonymisation and/or anonymization techniques should be applied to the data.

³ The Caldicott Principles - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)

- 1.7 Effective pseudonymisation and/or anonymisation processes depend upon robust information governance and effectively trained staff who understand the importance of data protection and confidentiality. They are part of the Data Protection by Design⁴ approach through which data protection is integrated into processing activities and business practices, from the design stage right through the lifecycle. They will often be relevant to a Data Protection Impact Assessment (DPIA) and form a key technical measure to ensure processing complies with the data protection principles.
- 1.8 This policy therefore sets out the commitment of how the GMCA will comply with the data minimisation principle and the use of pseudonymisation and anonymisation.

2. Policy Scope

- 2.1 This policy applies to all personal information including health data, special category/criminal conviction data used, stored or shared by or with the GMCA whether in paper or digital form and wherever it is located. It also applies to all personal information and special category information processed by the GMCA on behalf of other organisations
- 2.2 This policy applies to all GMCA employees, seconded staff members, volunteers, third party contractors, temporary staff and employees of other organisations who directly or indirectly support GMCA services.
- 2.3 This policy applies to data processing where the GMCA is a data controller in its own right or is a data controller in relation to a multi-agency data sharing partnership. This policy also applies when the GMCA is acting as a Data processor on behalf of one or more data controllers

3. Policy Statement

- 3.1 This policy states how the GMCA will comply with the GDPR's data minimization principle using anonymisation and pseudonymization techniques
- 3.2 As the GMCA processes a wide range of information this policy does not provide detailed guidance on the application of anonymisation and pseudonymization techniques or individual areas of application; these will be captured within the supporting procedural documents.

4. Roles and Responsibilities

4.1 Chief Executive

The Chief Executive is responsible for the organisation's compliance with data protection legislation. Part 7 of the DPA 2018 stipulates the CEX's liability with regards to offences committed under the Act.

The Chief Executive is therefore ultimately responsible for ensuring the GMCA only processes personal identifiable data where necessary and complies with data minimization principles.

4.2. Monitoring Officer

The Monitoring Officer is responsible for ensuring the lawfulness and fairness of GMCA decision making and must report on matters they believe are, or are likely to be, illegal or amount to maladministration. They are also responsible for matters relating to the conduct of members and officers. The GMCA Solicitor is the Monitoring Officer

4.3 Senior Information Risk Owner (SIRO)

The SIRO has an overall strategic responsibility for governance in relation to data protection risks and is responsible for:

- Acting as an advocate for managing information risk within the GMCA championing and fostering a culture that values, protects and uses information for the success of the organisation and benefit of its customers.
- Owning the organisation's overall information risk policy and risk assessment processes and ensuring they are implemented consistently by IAOs.
- Providing written advice to the Accounting Officer on the content of their annual governance statement in regard to information risk.

4.4. Data Protection Officer (DPO)

Under the Data Protection Legislation all public authorities must appoint a DPO. The DPO is responsible for:

- Informing and advising the GMCA and its employees of their data protection obligations.
- Monitoring compliance with Data Protection legislation and internal data protection policies and procedures.

- Monitoring the assignment of responsibilities, awareness training, and training of staff involved in processing operations and related audits.
- Acting as the contact point for the supervisory authority (Information Commissioners Office) on all data protection issues, including data breach reporting.

The GMCA will meet its obligations regarding the DPO role and as such will ensure that:

- the DPO is involved, closely and in a timely manner, in all data protection matters;
- the DPO reports to the highest management level of your organisation, i.e. board level at the GMCA this is the SIRO;
- the DPO operates independently and is not dismissed or penalised for performing their tasks;
- adequate resources (sufficient time, financial, infrastructure, and, where appropriate, staff) is provided to enable the DPO to meet their GDPR obligations, and to maintain their expert level of knowledge;
- The DPO has the appropriate access to personal data and processing activities;
- appropriate access to other services within your organisation so that they can receive essential support, input or information.

The Data Protection Officer for the GMCA is the Assistant Director of Information Governance.

4.5. Information Asset Owners (IAOs)

Information Asset Owners (IAOs) are members of the Extended Leadership Team. Their role is to understand in their business area what information is held, what is added and what is removed, how information is moved, and who has access and why. The IAO is responsible for:

- ensuring they understand and address risks to the information.
- ensure that information is fully used within the law for the public good.
- providing a written judgement of the security and use of their asset annually to support the audit process.
- ensuring their business area complies with the data minimisation principle
- to consider pseudonymisation and anonymisation techniques at the project initiation stage, as part of the DPIA process

4.6. Information Asset Administrators (IAA)

An IAO is accountable for the information assets under their control but may delegate day to day management responsibility to an IAA who would be responsible for:

- Ensuring all team members keep their training up-to-date
- Supporting the IAO by ensuring their business area complies with the data minimisation principle and the use of pseudonymisation and anonymisation

4.7. Information Security Officer

The Information Security Officer is responsible for developing and implementing the GMCA Information Security and associated policies and procedures to reflect local and national standards and guidance and legislative requirements. They also support the GMCA in ensuring compliance with information security requirements. This role reports to the Deputy Chief Information Officer.

4.8. Heads of Department will:

- Ensure all managers are made aware of this policy and understand their duties to ensure compliance across their teams.
- Notify the Information Governance Team and seek advice where activities involve the use of personal data. This includes any new projects, new data processing or any changes to existing processing
- Ensure compliance with GDPR and Data Protection Legislation for all teams within their area.
- Ensure all employees are appropriately trained in the safe handling and use of information and as a minimum complete the GMCA's data protection training every year.
- ensure their business area complies with the data minimisation principle and the use of pseudonymisation and anonymisation techniques to remove personal identifiers from the processing of information where appropriate.

4.9. Line managers will:

- Ensure that their teams are made aware of this policy and understand its requirements.
- Fully implement the requirements of this policy within their teams.
- Ensure all employees are appropriately trained in the safe handling and use of information and as a minimum GMCA's data protection training every year.
- Ensure the data they're responsible for is anonymized or pseudonymised where it is appropriate to do so.
- Ensuring all breaches or suspected breaches of confidentiality or information security are reported for immediate investigation. In particular, this includes the unauthorised reversal of pseudonymisation.

4.10. All staff must:

- All staff who create, receive and use personal information including health data, special category or criminal conviction data have pseudonymisation and anonymisation responsibilities under the Data Protection Act and supporting information governance policies.
- Follow this policy for all processing of personal data throughout the GMCA.
- Protect any personal data within their care.

- Seek additional advice and guidance from their manager, Information Governance Team or the Data Protection Officer if unsure or in any doubt about how to handle personal information.
- Report any suspected or actual data breaches or any breaches of this policy to their line manager or the Information Governance team as soon as they become aware in line with the Serious Information Governance Incident procedure.
- Keep up to date with all GMCA Data Protection and Information Governance training that is appropriate to their role
- Ensuring all breaches or suspected breaches of confidentiality or information security are reported for immediate investigation. In particular, this includes the unauthorised reversal of pseudonymisation.

4.11. Information Governance Team will:

- Will be the source of subject matter expertise in relation to data protection
- Develop and inform strategies in relation to the use of personal data
- Provide strategic oversight to large scale programmes of personal data sharing
- Will advise on and provide support in relation to data protection and the handling and use of personal data.
- Will provide guidance and support to staff undertaking Data Protection Impact Assessments.
- Develop and maintain relevant policies and procedures in line with changes to legislation and best practice.
- Manage and monitor requests from Data Subjects who choose to exercise their individual rights including Subject Access Requests in line with GMCA policies and procedures.
- Manage and monitor any Information Security Breaches in line with the GMCA Information Security Breach Policy.
- Develop and deliver training as required.

5. Definitions

- 5.1 Personal Data - Any information relating to a natural person who can be identified directly from the information or could be in combination with other information.
- 5.2 Anonymisation - The process of turning data into a form which does not identify individuals and where identification is not likely to take place. Anonymisation describes the process of data de-identification, producing de-identified data that cannot be linked to the original source or to an individual.
- 5.3 Anonymised Data - Data in a form that does not identify individuals and where identification through its combination with other data is unable to take place.
- 5.4 De-identification - The de-identification of data refers to the process of removing or obscuring any personally identifiable information from records in a way that minimises the risk of unintended disclosure of the identity of individuals and information about them. Methods used to de-identify information may vary depending on the circumstances but should be appropriate to protect the confidentiality of the individuals and the intended secondary use of the data.

- 5.5 Pseudonymisation - This is a method of removing the identifiable nature of data by using a unique identifier which does not reveal their 'real world' identity. In order to de-identify the data a coded reference or pseudonym is attached to a record to allow the data to be associated with a particular individual without the individual being identified. The ICO draws a distinction between anonymisation techniques used to produce aggregated information and those such as pseudonymisation that produce anonymised data but on an individual-level basis.

Data Protection legislation supports the use of pseudonymisation as an appropriate safeguard where anonymisation is not practical, yet it should be recognised that data that has undergone pseudonymisation can still be considered information about an identifiable natural person.

- 5.6 Pseudonym - This is a coded reference used to conceal/de-identify the personal data. This reference can be stored securely in order to re-identify the data back to its original form if necessary.
- 5.7 Aggregation – The merging of data to present figures in a way which does not allow the identification of individuals. This is where data are displayed as totals, so no data relating to or identifying any individual is shown. Small numbers in totals are often suppressed through 'blurring' or by being omitted altogether. Consolidating

6. Anonymisation and Pseudonymisation principles

- 6.1 Data Protection legislation classifies pseudonymised data as personal data and therefore must be processed in accordance with all data protection legislation. If the GMCA has access to the pseudonymised data and the identifiable personal confidential data; the key to the pseudonym; or has the means to re-identify pseudonymised data, the pseudonymised data remain in scope for full compliance with data protection legislation.
- 6.2 Data protection legislation states that data which is truly anonymised in such a way that individuals cannot be identified or re identified does not fall within the scope of the UK GDPR and therefore does not fall within the scope of the Data Protection Act either.
- 6.3 It is always preferable to fully anonymise any data that has the potential to reveal something personal about an individual, either from that data alone or when combined with other data.
- 6.4 Where data cannot be used in an anonymised format, due to the need to link datasets, because data may ultimately need to be re-identified or processed in identifiable format, the personal or data or pseudonymised data may be used provided there are strict controls in place to prevent unauthorised access and unauthorised re-identification.

- 6.5 The key advantages of using anonymised data as opposed to identifiable data include:
- it is easier to use anonymised data in new and different ways because the data protection legislation “purpose limitation rules do not apply;
 - protection against unauthorised access or disclosure of personal data; fewer legal restrictions apply;
 - allow for the sharing of data with colleagues and teams for analysis
 - allows organisations to make information public while still complying with their data protection obligations; and
 - the disclosure of anonymised data is not a disclosure of personal data.
- 6.6 The GMCA will carry out a thorough risk analysis on the likelihood and potential consequences of re-identification at the initial stage of producing and disclosing anonymised or pseudonymised data. The GMCA will always use a DPIA (Data Protection Impact Assessment) to undertake this assessment of risk, in line with Article 35 of GDPR.
- 6.7 The risk of re-identification will differ according to the way the anonymised or pseudonymised information is disclosed, shared or published. Publication to the wider public would be considered far more risky than limited access.
- 6.8 Any pseudonymization and anonymisation techniques used in GMCA projects must therefore be employed as part of a ‘holistic methodology’ of technical and non-technical processes to protect personal data enshrined in the concept of privacy by design and default (Article 25).

7. Anonymisation

- 7.1 The organisation will use de-identification and anonymisation techniques to obscure or remove the identifiable data items within a person’s records sufficiently that the risk of potential identification of the subject or a person’s record is minimised to acceptable levels, so as to provide effective anonymisation, where appropriate. Recital 26 of GDPR defines anonymous information, as "...information which does not relate to an identified or identifiable natural person or to personal data rendered anonymous in such a manner that the data subject is not or no longer identifiable". The GDPR does not apply to anonymised information as set out above in Section 6.
- 7.2 Anonymised data will allow information which originated as personal confidential data to be available in a form that is rich and usable, whilst protecting the confidentiality of the individual.
- 7.3 The organisation will continue to comply with role-based access controls when using de-identified and anonymised data.

The organisation will achieve de-identification and anonymisation by:

- Removing personal identifiers (e.g. name, date of birth, physical description etc)
- The use of identifier ranges, for example; value ranges instead of age.
- Aggregation.
- Using a pseudonym (although, as covered further below, pseudonymising data will not necessarily completely ensure that re-identification is impossible).

The organisation will ensure that any commissioning and contracting on behalf of the GMCA will include assurances that the Provider's processes are robust in respect of the supply of data and data minimization principles.

The most up to date guidance from the Information Commissioners Office on Anonymisation can be viewed here; <https://ico.org.uk/media/1061/anonymisation-code.pdf>

8. Pseudonymisation

8.1 Pseudonymisation is the processing of personal data in such a manner that the personal data can no longer be attributed to a specific data subject without the use of additional information, provided that such additional information is kept separately and is subject to technical and organisational measures to ensure that the personal data are not attributed to an identified or identifiable human being. Essentially this means substituting the identifiable part of the data with something else, in a way that the data can only be re-identified using a key for example.

The GMCA will effectively pseudonymise data by:

- Removing personal identifiers and ensuring Personal Identifiable Data is replaced with a unique pseudonym;
- When using pseudonymisation externally, it's important to use different pseudonyms internally, such that internal data use/processes are not compromised;
- Pseudonymised data will have the same security applied to it as all other Personal Identifiable Data

10. Legal and Professional Obligations

10.1 The GMCA will take actions to comply with the relevant legal and professional obligations, in particular:

- Human Rights Act 1998
- Common Law Duty of Confidentiality

11. Training

- 11.1 The GMCA will provide relevant training both on line and face to face to ensure that staff understand the legislation and its application to their role.
- 11.2 All staff must complete mandatory data protection training every year and undertake any further training provided by the GMCA to enable them to perform their duties appropriately

12. Compliance and Monitoring

- 12.1 Completion of training will be monitored by the Information Governance Team and all employees must have regard to the Data Protection Legislation and this policy when collecting, accessing, using, disclosing or destroying personal information. Failure to do so may result in disciplinary action and legal prosecution.
- 12.2 If an employee is in any doubt about how to handle personal information or to apply the pseudonymisation/anonymisation techniques mentioned above, they should speak to their line manager or contact the Information Governance Team OfficeofDPO@greatermanchester-ca.gov.uk
- 12.3 This policy will be reviewed at regularly by the Information Governance Team to ensure that it is updated in line with any change in legislation.
- 12.4 The GMCA will continue to review this effectiveness of this policy to ensure that it is achieving it intended purpose.

1.0 BACKGROUND

1.1 Data protection law specifically requires organisations to put in place effective data protection policies, to enable them to take the practical steps to comply with their legal obligations. The Data Protection Act came into force in the UK in 2018. It outlines that employees can face prosecution for data protection breaches. As with previous legislation, the new law contains provisions making certain disclosure of personal data a criminal offence.

1.2 The following set of GMCA organizational policies are intended to provide clarity and consistency for employees, by communicating what people need to do and why, to help them avoid the potentially serious, criminal implications for employees that can arise from failure to comply with data protection legislation. Examples from the Data Protection Act (2018) include:

Section 148: Destroying or falsifying information and documents etc. (Data Quality).

Under Section 148 (2) (a) it is an offence for a person to destroy or otherwise dispose of, conceal, block or (where relevant) falsify all or part of the information, document, equipment or material.

Section 173: Alteration etc. of personal data to prevent disclosure to data subject (Data Subject Requests).

Section 173 relates to the processing of requests for data from individuals for their personal data. Section 173 (3) makes it a criminal offence for organisations (persons listed in Section 173 (4)) to alter, deface, block, erase, destroy or conceal information with the intention of preventing disclosure.

Section 171: Re-identification of de-identified personal data (anonymization and pseudonymization)

Section 171 - a new offence - criminalizes the re-identification of personal data that has been 'de-identified' (de-identification being a process - such as redactions - to remove/conceal personal data). Section (5) states that it is an offence for a person knowingly or recklessly to process personal data that is information that has been re-identified.

1.3 In relation to the Freedom of Information Act (2000) Section 77 states a person "is guilty of an offence if he alters, defaces, blocks, erases, destroys or conceals any record held by the public authority, with the intention of preventing the disclosure by that authority of all, or any part, of the information to the communication of which the applicant would have been entitled."

1.4 The attached policies have been drafted by the GMCA Information Team in conjunction with the GMCA Information Governance (IG) Board. The Freedom of Information and Environmental Information Regulations Policy was considered and agreed with Trade Unions representatives in October 2020.

1.5 All policies follow an agreed format and style, including arrangements for document version control.

2.0 APPROPRIATE POLICY (SPECIAL CATEGORY DATA)

- 2.1 As part of the Greater Manchester Combined Authority’s (GMCA) statutory and public functions, it processes special category data and criminal offence data in accordance with the requirements of Article 9 and 10 of the General Data Protection Regulation (‘GDPR’) and Schedule 1 of the Data Protection Act 2018 (‘DPA 2018’).
- 2.2 This policy applies when the GMCA is processing special category data when relying on the requirements listed in Parts 1, 2 and 3 of Schedule 1 of the Data Protection Act 2018. This policy lists the procedures, which are in place to secure compliance with the General Data Protection Regulation and data protection principles, needed when processing special category data. It applies to all GMCA staff. “Staff” for the purposes of this policy includes GMCA officers, including contractors, consultants and agency staff.
- 2.3 The Appropriate Policy (Special Category Data) is attached as appendix 1.

3.0 DATA SUBJECT RIGHTS POLICY

- 3.1 This policy provides an introduction to the rights individuals have under the data protection legislation.
- 3.2 The rights of individuals (‘data subjects’) in relation to the processing of their personal information are set out in the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Further provisions relating to the data rights of individuals can be found within the Data Protection Act 2018 (DPA 2018), which include law enforcement activities and other areas not covered under the GDPR.
- 3.3 The GDPR strengthens these existing rights. The changes are mostly evolutionary but also give individual’s rights in other areas such as the right to data portability. Some of these rights are subject to limitations and exceptions; further details of which may be viewed below.
- 3.4 The Data Subject Rights Policy is attached as appendix 2.

4.0 DATA QUALITY POLICY

- 4.1 The Greater Manchester Combined Authority (GMCA) recognizes that reliable information is essential and the availability of complete, accurate, relevant, accessible and timely data is fundamental in supporting the GMCA to achieve its goals. The GMCA recognizes that all decisions, whether service delivery, performance management, managerial or financial need be based on information which is of the highest quality.
- 4.2 The data quality policy document underpins the GMCA’s objective to record and present information of the highest quality and sets out high level principles as to how this will be achieved. It outlines who this policy applies to and the principles that staff must be aware of and adhere to. It also defines the governance arrangements, the key roles and provides protocols to ensure robust data quality is embedded throughout the GMCA assets.
- 4.3 The Data Quality Policy is attached as appendix 3.

5.0 ANONYMISATION AND PSEUDONYMISATION POLICY

- 5.1 Effective pseudonymization and/or anonymization processes depend upon robust information governance and effectively trained staff who understand the importance of data protection and confidentiality. They are part of the Data Protection by Design approach (Article 25 of GDPR) through which data protection is integrated into processing activities and business practices, from the design stage right through the lifecycle. They will often be relevant to a Data Protection Impact Assessment (DPIA) and form a key technical measure to ensure processing complies with the data protection principles (Article 35 of GDPR).
- 5.2 This policy therefore sets out how the GMCA will comply with the Data Protection legislation in order to ensure that the personal data it holds is used appropriately, processed safely and securely and that individuals are able to exercise their rights.
- 5.3 The Anonymization and Pseudonymization Policy is attached as appendix 4.

6.0 FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND ENVIRONMENTAL INFORMATION REGULATIONS POLICY

- 6.1 As an organization, one of the most frequent types of requests we receive are Freedom of Information requests. In order to support the organization in managing these requests, and in order to ensure that we are compliant to Data Protection Act 2018, General Data Protection Regulation and Freedom of Information Act 2000 we have produced new guidance which includes a policy, procedure, frequently asked questions and a guide to exemptions.
- 6.2 This policy sets out our organizational approach to Freedom of Information and Environmental Information Regulation requests. The policy has been approved by the Unions.
- 6.3 The Freedom of Information and Environmental Information Regulations Policy is attached as appendix 5.

7.0 NEXT STEPS

- 7.1 Subject to approval of the policies by this Committee, an updated training offer for employees will be delivered alongside a communications plan (both for all employees and key stakeholders) to ensure that employees are aware of and understand their obligations in relation to the respective policies.

8.0 RECOMMENDATION

- 8.1 The Resources Committee is asked to approve the appended GMCA information governance policies:
 - Appendix 1 - Appropriate Policy (Special Category Data)
 - Appendix 2 - Data Subject Rights Policy
 - Appendix 3 - Data Quality Policy
 - Appendix 4 - Anonymization and Pseudonymization Policy
 - Appendix 5 - Freedom of Information and Environmental Information Regulations Policy
